Citizen of the Year

"She was selected for her dedication in working for the community as a volunteer," said Susan Williams, Executive Director of the Chamber. "Brenda is just tenacious in wanting to get things done, from playgrounds to dental clinics. She stands by her principles to make things happen and people love to work with her. She's a great, great choice."

Carl's list of honors and accomplishments is lengthy. The numerous accolades included 2013 Distinguished Alumna at Venango College, 2012 state House citation for exceptional achievement, 2012 county citation for outstanding achievement as a volunteer, Cancer Society's Nurse of Hope and on and on. Her accomplishments range from disaster relief nurse in earthquake-stricken Haiti, community outreach nurse during the 2011 Hurricane Irene relief effort, advocate volunteer for the Oil City Salvation Army Dental Clinic, fundraiser and planner for Oil City playground projects and more. The 1978 Oil City High School graduate earned an associate degree in nursing at Venango Campus in 1985 and has completed several certification courses in health-related fields, including nursing practice, public health and more.
