Recognizing Local Young Professionals—Virtual FLEX Presents

FLEX Presents, taking place in April of each year, will be moved online. Although the event will be different, we are looking forward to recognizing the many young professionals making a difference in our region.

We have 13 nominees who have been put forth by the community for their commitment to civic engagement, entrepreneurship, and leadership. These young professionals go above and beyond both in the community and their workplace.

Join us on Facebook Live on September 25, as we celebrate these young professionals and announce our 2020 Young Professional of the Year.

Professional Development Tip: Networking Online

Events, meetings, and even family gatherings have been moved online. Something that usually involves a handshake and face-to-face communication, networking, is also something that now has to take place virtually. While it can be challenging to make the same connections online instead of in-person, here are some tips to help you as you attempt online networking:

- Target specific people to avoid wasted time. Focus on people who work at your dream company, fellow alumni whose careers you admire, and friends of friends.
- Track your network using a spreadsheet to stay organized and improve your ability to stay in touch with contacts.
- Reach out in the most effective and professional way. Choose email or LinkedIn over texting and social media, include information about yourself and reasoning for contacting them, and keep it concise and personal.
- Don't forget to follow up! Immediately send a thank you card and maybe a simple gift (such as a $5 gift card or a book) and keep them posted about your career progress.
